(BULLETIN)
According to a press dispatch to The News this afternoon, Mrs. Callie Riddle, of Enon Valley, was one of the eleven persons who survived the bus crash, while it was believed that Mrs. Clara Young, of Moody avenue, who was travelling with her, was also a passenger on the bus. Investigation here reveals that Mrs. Riddle and Mrs. Young left this city last week for St. Petersburg, Florida. Two other New Castle women who left here with Mrs. Riddle and Mrs. Young, intended to stop at Miami, so were not likely on the bus.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 25.—Twenty-one persons were killed today when a huge transport bus plunged off the Tamiami Trail, 35 miles west of here, into a canal that paralleled the highway. Eleven other persons, including the driver, were rescued, but most of those saved were seriously injured and several of them were unconscious when brought to a hospital here. Efforts were started immediately to bring the bodies of the 21 victims from the submerged bus. It was impossible to learn the

PA NEW OBSERVES

Billy Glenn's famous Gorge Ride at Cascade Park crashed Sunday night, when the water in Big Run carried a huge log across, cracking down the first dip of the scenic ride.

Traffic conditions here over the week end were of a wide variety. Saturday morning went down to 13 above zero, and the snowfall was slippery. During the night, the weather moderated and Sunday morning rain started. The snow became water soaked and slippery. Later, as the rain continued, deep slush and streams of water covered the thoroughfares. Autos ploughed along the streets throwing the slush in all directions.

Large numbers of persons were driving around the city last night, inspecting the various streams and rivers, as there appeared for a time to be some danger of the streams overflowing their banks. At some points traffic was so dense that there was real congestion.

It has been suggested that some sort of a high water indicator be placed on one of the bridges spanning the Neshannock Creek. Business men in the downtown area have a very live interest in knowing the stages of the water as it rises. For a small cost some gauge marks could be painted on the abutments and a lot of guess work would be eliminated.

Riot Occurs At Frankfort Prison During Flood

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 25.—Rioting which broke out among terrorized convicts at the Kentucky state reformatory, Frankfort, Ky., when flood waters lapped at the second tier of cells last night was under control today, according to a report telephoned here. The warden's office denied in a conversation with International News Service that any of the convicts had been slain. Earlier reports said a dozen or more were killed in the rioting.

Seventh Ward Section Is

(BULLETIN)
At one o'clock this afternoon, all streams in the vicinity were falling except the Shenango river, which was continuing to rise slowly and stood at 14.8 feet. It seemed unlikely this afternoon that it would pass the 15.4-foot stage recorded Saturday. Rail traffic was resumed by the Pennsylvania railroad west of the city as the Mahoning started to recede.

'Old Man River' started on his own little rampage here during the night, but a cessation of the rain, with cooler weather prevented damage of any large consequence, and indications were this morning that there would not be a flood here. It was the second serious threat to the city in the past week. Over an inch of rain Sunday, falling on a half inch of snow which had fallen Friday afternoon and evening, combined to make a dangerous condition which threatened to cause serious damage here.

The Mahoning river was the highest of the three streams passing through the city, and it was at its highest stage since the 1913 flood. Both the Wampum and Mt. Jackson roads were under water and closed to traffic at eight o'clock this morning, water covering the highway in a number of places where the road was low, and the river was still slowly rising, observers in the seventh ward stated.

Disposal Plant Down
The sewage disposal plant went out of commission early this morning, as the waters from the Mahoning surged around it, and complete-

Says Flood Damage Could Be Prevented By Projects Approved

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The devastating flood damage in Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Louisville, Wheeling, W. Va., Portsmouth, O., and other mid-western points could be prevented by construction of the flood control projects already authorized by congress, Senator Royal S. Copeland (D) of New York, declared today.

Senator Copeland demanded congress promptly enact the appropriations necessary to carry out the construction program. He pointed out the budget bureau recommended expenditure of only $30,000,000 for this purpose next year—after appropriating nothing last year—and declared this figure could be doubled so the entire construction program can be completed within ten years.

The $500,000,000 Copeland flood control bill passed by the last congress provided for flood control works in New England, New York, Pennsylvania and throughout the Ohio, Missouri river valleys. A second bill, sponsored by Senator Overton (D) of Louisiana, provided flood control projects for the Mississippi river valley.

The Copeland bill carried $55,215,000 for projects in the Ohio river valley above Pittsburgh and $30,136,400 for projects in the valley below Pittsburgh. The projects included nine great reservoirs above Pittsburgh which would prevent floods in that city and hold back waters from the lower valley, and five more great reservoirs in head-streams below Pittsburgh.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 25.—The relentless upsurge of the Ohio river continued here today as firemen fought the last of a floating fire that had imperiled most of the city.

The blaze was brought under control late last night after doing some $1,500,000 damage in the Industrial Mill Creek section. But only by the saving of two huge oil tanks was a much worse holocaust averted.

Flames nearly 300 feet high shot into the murky sky yesterday when a film of oil on the floodwaters became ignited. The fire spread with incredible rapidity and almost enveloped two 60,000 gallon tanks of the Standard Oil company. Firemen concentrated their efforts on saving the tanks and at

Seven States Battle Their Worst Flood; Three More Prepare

(International News Service)

With their refugee lists reading like wartime casualties, seven states battled the worst floods in their histories today and three more were feeling first effects of "worse to come."

OHIO—A $1,500,000 fire quelled at Cincinnati. Some 65,000 homeless in Cincinnati area. Health conditions bad. At Portsmouth, 25,000 more homeless. Food shortages, power failures, poor housing ravage entire Ohio valley.

INDIANA—Southern part of state under martial law. Estimates of homeless running to 100,000. Trains and trucks commandeered to rush food and medical supplies to refugees.

KENTUCKY—Half of Louisville under water. Power shut off. An estimated 200,000 homeless in Louisville. Ky. Reported riot at Frankfort Reformatory, but emphatically denied any convicts killed. Other parts of state afflicted.

WEST VIRGINIA—Wheeling still stricken. Industry at standstill.

MISSOURI—Armed farmers prevent flooding of 131,000 acre "reservoir." Troops called out to enforce this safety measure. Estimated 40,000 homeless in state.

ARKANSAS AND ILLINOIS—Situation serious in parts of both states.

TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA—Large areas flooded. Estimated 10,000 homeless for the three states. All wait for "worse to come."

Morning

LEGION POST IS FIRST TO PLEDGE

Funds for the relief of flood sufferers in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys began to pour into the office of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, this morning and by mid-morning, $327.70 had been received. Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion was the first to pledge its financial aid, giving an initial pledge of $100. The sum of $43.10 was contributed by the First Baptist church, and a friend gave $25. The rest was in smaller amounts which will be acknowledged by the chapter later.

In addition, the New Castle Lodge of Elks, The Townsman and American Legion promised its services in the event of an emergency here, such as occurred last spring when food supplies and clothing was gathered for the flood sufferers. There has been no demand for such articles by the National Red Cross as yet, but the need for funds is urgent, and Disaster Relief Chairman Paul F. Butz, stated this morning that he was hopeful that the citizens of Lawrence county would live up to their past reputation for generosity in similar emergencies.

Often I hear complaining of the town in which we live and folks disgruntled mention what a ransom they would give, if they could move to other towns amid some other scenes, for other towns look nicker and friendship brighter gleams. But now and then there comes a time when this old town looks grand, when floods are spreading strife and woe across the river lands. And I remember that right here we're practically flood proof and rivers will not rise at night and wash away our roof. It's then I think of squawking folks, and wonder if they're done, when homes are safe and floods are out, the weathers forty one.

TAILOR SLAIN IN ROBBERY

Seek Thugs For Robbery Murder

Pittsburgh Man Shot To Death By Pair Of Masked Men

AMOUNT OF LOOT IS NOT KNOWN

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25.—Two young negro gunmen were sought by police today, after they murdered a tailor while attempting to rob his establishment.

Morris Shlakman, 64, the tailor, was working in his store late Saturday night when the thugs entered, their faces masked by white handkerchiefs according to police. His wife, Yetta, was nearby.

Dragging Shlakman into a hallway, the pair threatened Mrs. Shlakman's life if she made any outcry, police said.

Found Dying
Then, according to officers, Mrs. Shlakman heard one of the bandits saying:

"We're going to kill you."

A minute later she found her husband lying on the hallway floor, a bullet wound in his abdomen. He died before he could be taken to a hospital.

His pockets had been turned inside out, police reported. How much was obtained by the gunmen was unknown.

CINCINNATI FIRE IS UNDER CONTROL

last succeeded after ten hours. The fire was still alive today but Chief Barney Houston said that the real danger was past.

Far Above Record.
The river meanwhile maintained its steady rise and early today stood at 78.3 feet, about 7.5 feet above its all time high here. Officials hesitated to predict what the crest might be but believed it would be reached Tuesday or Wednesday if the rain does not resume.

The swirling waters already have driven 65,000 from their homes in the city, and about 15 square miles in the valley sections are under water.

Because so much of the city is built on higher ground there is not the dire distress here of other communities.

There are no trains entering or leaving the city itself, but stop in the suburbs 15 miles from the heart of town from where supplies and foodstuffs are being brought in by motor.

One light plant in town was completely shutdown and the other badly crippled. Authorities ordered electricity used only for emergency.

No Epidemic Danger.
Health officials report there is no danger of an epidemic, but the number of pneumonia cases is increasing alarmingly. Plenty of food for at least a week is on hand but the water supply was shut off at 7 o'clock last night.

The water will be turned on at two hour intervals today and tomorrow, but all citizens were ordered to use only enough for bare necessities.

The pumping station was shut down at the height of the fire when it was feared the supply of drinking water would be exhausted.

The spectacular blaze which laid a blanket of flame over a three-mile area was believed to have started when a live wire broke and fell into the floating fuel.

The high soaring tongues of flame spouted along the water and spread over everything in their path. For a time they threatened the $1,500,000 Crosley studio and did destroy some of the other Crosley factories at an estimated damage of $500,000. The Standard Oil company estimated their loss at another half million.

Cause Of Fire.
It was believed that the fuel for the fire came from Gulf Oil company tanks split open by floating debris. Other smaller fuel tanks added to the source of the flames, as the fire grew.

Besides the Crosley and Standard Oil company property damaged, a dozen homes and uncounted number of smaller plants were destroyed or badly damaged. Houston said the loss would have run much higher but that most of the property was practically worthless because of the flood.

Chief Houston and four firemen narrowly escaped drowning in fighting the fire when a boat they were using to take hose closer to the blaze, capsized. Despite their heavy clothing all swam safely to shore.

The cold slicing rain that had descended on the city all day ceased last evening and brought some measure of comfort to the refugees seeking shelter here.

All street lights were off during the night and homeowners were requested to use only one light at a time and their radio.

tional Guard and regular army forces patrolling the streets although martial law had not been officially declared.

Mayor Miller ordered complete evacuation of the town west of Fifteenth street last night and at the same time urged all women and children and men whose services were not demanded to leave the stricken city at once.

"We are not worrying about property anymore," he said, "we are worrying now only about saving life."

Thirteen Feet Above Record
His desperation was prompted by the inexorable rise of the river which this morning had reached a stage of nearly 55 feet, almost thirteen higher than the previous mark of 42.7 feet set in 1884.

Meteorologist J. L. Kendall said he feared the crest would be at least 57 feet providing the rain ceased. His forecast for today and tomorrow however, was for more rain and possibly snow.

A total of 294 inches of rain fell on the city yesterday and last night. River engineers said that every inch of rain would mean nearly a foot rise in the river.

The city's desolation was increased during the night when the power supply failed. Only valiant and death defying effort on the part of the power workers had kept the city supplied with any electricity earlier. They were forced to work far below water level at the giant machinery and were protected only by water tight bulkheads and were in danger of collapsing at any time. They at last gave way. The crew was believed to have escaped.

Crisis Becomes Acute
Communications were badly disrupted. Telephone service was almost at a standstill and many telegraph wires were out of commission. Trains were operating cautiously on the Pennsylvania and Southern each string of cars packed with fear-stricken refugees.

The crisis was becoming more acute hourly as food supplies and medical stores were depleted. An epidemic of typhoid was feared because of the lack of pure drinking water.

Pneumonia cases were increasing rapidly and virtually everyone had a cold. Fifty emergency clinics were jammed beyond capacity and doctors and nurses worked without thought of rest or care for themselves.

The homeless were crowded under every available roof. Factories, hotels, the National Guard Armory, stores and shops each held their quotas.

Everyone was ordered to subsist with the most meager supplies possible and every resource was thrown open to the needy. The mayor ordered the arrest of anyone using a boat for sightseeing. Looters were to be shot on sight.

Drug stores were allowed to dispense medical supplies only. Automobiles were ordered off the streets except for public duty and gasoline was doled out in emergency rations. There were no taxicabs or buses operating today.

FLOOD REFUGEES IN OHIO VALLEY NEARING 750,000

adequate supplies and almost without heat, counted 200,000 homeless within the city. Conditions grew more critical at Portsmouth, Evansville and Cairo, and a new flood threat gripped Pittsburgh.

Far Outstrips Record
The Ohio river has now far outstripped the record flood of 1884, previously the worst in its history. At Cincinnati, the river was seven feet above the 1884 record and was still rising steadily.

At Cairo, Ill., the confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, the city commandeered all available labor to bulkhead the levees with sandbags to withstand a river level of 66 feet. The water level had already reached 58 feet and threatened to overflow.

U. S. Troops To Aid
With the situation threatening to get out of control, 1,500 United States soldiers entrained from Indianapolis for Jeffersonville, Ind., to help 300,000 stricken persons in that flood-devastated area.

Throughout the 950 mile course of the Ohio, and extending on down the Mississippi, rescue and relief proceeded on a wartime footing.

It appeared certain that the $2,000,000 contribution asked by President Roosevelt to augment $1,000,000 already on hand would be insufficient, and a congressional appropriation for flood relief was to be asked.

Colder Weather Is Hope
The only optimistic turn given the situation today was a forecast for colder weather in the Ohio valley. Forecaster J. H. Lloyd, of Chicago, said a "hard freeze" expected tonight will help to stop the rise of water.

No rain and little snow was forecast for the flood area.

Without power, with insufficient medical supplies, and with twenty square miles of its area under water, Louisville faced the most critical situation today.

Gov. A. C. Chandler declared a state of emergency, and appealed directly to President Roosevelt. The city was being operated on a wartime basis, with National guard and regular troops patrolling.

Lack of adequate medical supplies, shortage of drinking water and contamination increased the danger of a terrible disease toll.

On a hill near Carmel, Ill., three women gave birth to babies without physicians. With Portsmouth, O., sectors desperately needing medicine, only two drug stores stood above water in the worst afflicted area.

The new miseries which pressed down on the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Missouri, Arkansas and Illinois foreboded "worse floods to come" for the lower Mississippi valley.

With the gorges Ohio and other flood-swollen rivers higher and the Mississippi already above flood stage, another major catastrophe was foreseen.

Looting broke out in the afflicted cities and orders to "shoot to kill" all looters were issued.

In view of the extent of the disaster, the number of fatalities was surprisingly small. Fewer than 50 persons are definitely known to have perished, though large numbers are missing.

At Frankfort, Ky., prisoners who saw the flood waters lapping toward the second tier of cells broke into a riot which was under control today, and it was officially denied that any prisoners had been slain.

As a further emergency measure to relieve, at great cost, the pressure of the waters, Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri announced that government engineers had dynamited levees south of Cairo to flood a lowland.

This huge "reservoir" area is normally occupied by farmers, some of whom prevented dynamiting last night with guns, although the law provides that the government shall reimburse them for damage.

Officials made every effort to evacuate completely the lowland area before blasting, but it was feared some reluctant to leave their homes had remained behind.

The total cat population of New York City has been estimated at 1,500,000.

Seventh Ward Families Driven Out By Flood

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon the southern part of Mahoningtown, in the vicinity of South Liberty street, South Cedar and East Wayne streets, resembled a miniature lake. As a result, most of the residents of this district were forced to evacuate their homes.

Several storm sewers, located near the Pennsylvania shops and roundhouse, overflowed, flooding that section of the seventh ward with several feet of water. Practically every cellar along these streets was filled with water. The E. & A. baseball grounds, a short distance away, is also covered with several feet of water.

TRANSPORT BUS PLUNGES OFF OF ROAD INTO CANAL

Identities of any of those killed or injured were not known, except William Hammond of Miami, driver of the bus. He was seriously injured and was unable to tell how the accident occurred.

No Eye-Witnesses
There were no eye-witnesses to the crash.

A motorist passed the scene only a few minutes after the accident occurred. A few of the victims had escaped from the bus and made their way to the bank of the canal.

He sped 10 miles down the highway to the nearest telephone and called Miami for aid.

Ambulances and officers immediately sped to the scene from Miami, but due to lack of telephone facilities it was some time before details of the tragedy could be learned in Miami.

Bus records here revealed that 32 persons were aboard the bus when it plunged from the highway. However, it was considered barely possible that additional passengers had been picked up after the bus left this city.

The bus left Miami at 9:30 a. m. en route to Tampa, Fla., and shortly before 11 a. m. word of the accident was received here.

Snyder of Cleveland and Charles Hess of New Brighton.

Tractor and semi-trailer of Lawrence Snyder was stalled partly on the road and Hess drove up slowly and asked if Lawrence Snyder needed a shove. The car with L. H. Snyder came over the crest of the hill.

Due to fog it was difficult, it was said to see, and the auto driven by L. H. Snyder struck both the tractors and semi-trailers.

No one was injured.

FLOOD PREVENTION MUST BE STARTED

WITH probably the worst flood disaster in the history of the Ohio Valley in progress, with untold damage, with hundreds of thousands driven from their homes and their work, with conditions almost indescribable, tremendous emphasis is given to the demand that actual flood prevention work be undertaken by the nation on a large scale.

Since the memorable disaster of last March, the question of flood prevention has been a live one, and there has been much consideration of the idea, but actual steps towards accomplishment are not yet under way effectively.

With two terrible flood conditions within a year in the same section of the country, and with the present situation much worse than the one that preceded less than a year ago, it is evident to all that flood prevention work must not be longer delayed.

Congress should be speeded to action by the recurrence of the disaster at the present time.

HEROES OF WINTER

This winter's weather should have awakened the sympathies of many indoor workers for those who must do the day's duty in the cold outdoors. There are very many of them whose services are taken very much for granted and not too generously appreciated under ordinary conditions. But by observation and imagination those who work within walls may understand a little of what it means to fight the weather for a living. Lately it has been a hard battle, a long and tiresome battle, wearing and wearying on all who must carry on their work in the teeth of winter.

The milkman must make his rounds, the postman keep his appointments. Traffic must be kept safe for travelers. Railway tracks must be cleared and switches kept unfrozen. Truckmen must be out at all times of day and night, in any sort of weather, to deliver food and fuel where they are needed. Watchmen make their rounds. Repairmen must mend wires and pipes, firemen must be ready for their dangerous business in cold or swirling snow.

All these are valiant, and many more besides. The comfortable customs and conveniences of civilized living would soon go to smash if they weakened in the face of the weather.

WELL DRESSED

Perhaps the man in the audience has misjudged the "best-dressed man on the screen." He may have felt that the actors for whom publicity agents made such claims were more or less foppish or dandified, but in the light of seven rules of good dressing laid down by one of them that opinion will be revised.

Neatness and proper care are more important than newness. Run-over heels are taboo. So are dirty and misshapen hats. Suspenders are essential to properly draped trousers. Dirty fingernails are forgiven only on men engaged in manual labor. Only in his bedroom may a man appear unshaven.

And what price good dressing. This movie star says he can prove that a man making $40 a week can dress as well as a millionaire, maintaining that good taste and good dress are not necessarily the accompaniment of riches.

Clothes make the man, but do not accurately proclaim his credit rating. Many a millionaire has gone shabby and many a poor man is immaculate. Good dressing is a matter more of time and attention than money, and yet men upon whose hands time weighs heavy are most guilty of neglect of their personal appearance. Unemployment and poverty breed carelessness.

THE WAR ON INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Plans are under way for the annual President Roosevelt Birthday Ball in New Castle and neighboring cities for the purpose of raising funds to continue the fight against infantile paralysis.

The ball will be held in New Castle on Friday night, January 29. Other cities are planning to hold their affairs on Saturday night, the birthday anniversary of the president. The change here was to enable later dancing.

Seventy per cent of the money raised through these affairs will be used locally for infantile paralysis cure and prevention. The balance will go to the Warm Springs Foundation in Georgia where President Roosevelt won his gallant fight against the dread disease.

We know that the residents of New Castle and surrounding towns will support these parties magnificently. It is not necessary to point out that the Birthday Balls are non-partisan. The purpose lifts them far above political lines.

Great progress in the war against infantile paralysis has been made with the funds raised since Henry L. Doherty, the utilities company executive, first suggested the idea in 1933. Warm Springs has become a haven for the afflicted. Systematic agencies for the treatment of victims have been established in almost every section of the United States.

The persons who are donating their time and labor to arranging the program here should be congratulated. They are rendering a great service to humanity. We know the public will not fail them.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TRACING HISTORY OF CRIME

Recently from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the following facts came forth, reported by the big G-man, J. Edgar Hoover:

More than one out of every six suspected of crime in the United States had criminal records before they were 21. One out of every four arrested for robbery in the same period was a minor. More than one out of three criminals are less than 25.

And various writers on the subject of crime have pointed out that the juvenile delinquent has a history of anti-social attitude and behavior reaching far back in childhood. There can be little doubt that the foundation for their crime was pretty well laid before they were old enough to go to school.

The story of crime in youth also reveals many broken homes, and homes where the family relations are not happy. Perhaps very few criminals come from really happy homes. Whereas a large per centage comes from under-privileged homes, not nearly all do.

The facts about juvenile delinquency connected with the "better homes" are hard to ascertain. Juvenile courts are inclined to give youthful offenders from these "better homes" another and another chance on the theory that with favorable environment these offenders will reform, and there are further obvious reasons for leniency to them, of course.

It seems to me that if I were a judge of a juvenile court, I would be less lenient toward the offender from the "better home," than toward other juvenile offenders. The former had far more opportunities to be a good citizen than the latter, and had had more practice in delinquency, as a rule before being hauled into court. Besides, I would hope to "shock" parents of these "better homes" into a keener sense of parental responsibility than the now possess. Of course, I might not be re-elected.

Surely the hope of reducing crime materially is in the "better home" homes with good physical environment, cultured background, good family traditions, homes with parents who are themselves good citizens, even business, civic and religious lights of their community. It is the children of these homes whose worse conduct is imitated by children of the less privileged families.

But, also, the parents of these "better homes" seem to have been among the first to relax on standards of conduct for their children, to throw restraint to the winds, and to worship at the feet of those false prophets who are telling parents to let their children do about as they please so long as they express themselves.

I sincerely believe that those teachers and writers who have made parents think they should never lay the hand on a child to discipline him have, unaware, been about the most generous contributors to juvenile delinquency and crime.

WASHING THE WINDOWS ON BOTH SIDES

WHEN I WAS a boy I had a job in a library.

I was supposed to sweep the floor, dust the furniture, arrange the books on the shelves, keep the furnace going and wash the windows.

I did it fairly well except washing those windows. In the two years I was there I never did get them completely clean. I mean I didn't get them all washed on both sides at the same time.

One Saturday I'd get them washed on the inside, but nobody knew that because they were still dirty on the outside. I'd skip the next Saturday, but the Saturday after that I'd get a bucket of water, some rags and a ladder and make a try at the outside and get them all clean and shining. But by that time the insides of the windows would be all finger marked and dirty—and I'd have a hard time convincing the librarian that I had ever worked on those windows.

If I'd asked for "references" when I quit that job, she could have written truthfully of me: "He was a very good janitor, and when he swept he didn't skimp the corners—but he's rather weak on window washing."

Samuel Butler, who wrote "The Way of All Flesh," once bemoaned the fact that he never in all his life had been "a swell all around." If he had a new coat his hat was shabby, if his hat was new his shoes needed polishing, if his clothes were new his hair needed cutting. Always there was a weak spot in his get-up.

Samuel Butler was like that with his clothes. I was like that with those windows. . . . Most of us are like that with ourselves, with our habits. The man who is careful with his money may be careless with his friends. A woman who is honest and frank in her speech may be a little harsh in her judgment of people. The youth who loves a "good time" may give a "bad time" to his friends. We wash our windows on one side, let the other side go.

Some day I may meet a man who is perfect all around. . . . If I ever do, I'll start a campaign to get him into a museum, or Ill organize excursions to his home.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—I find it necessary to resign from my club—I have now moved to another city. To whom should I make this announcement, which must be in writing, and just what should I say?

Answer—Write a letter of resignation to the secretary of the club. You may state your reasons for leaving if you so wish. Ask her to present your resignation and your regrets to the board of directors at its next meeting.

All dues for the fiscal year should be paid before your resignation is sent in. Ascertain when the fiscal year ends and have your resignation reach the secretary in advance of that date. At the same time be sure to send a check for all outstanding bills for meals, locker rent, entertainment of guests or any other extra service which you may have ordered.

Dear Miss Markel—My fiancée's mother has died within the past month. As she is now in mourning I understand it is not proper for me to invite her to any entertainment for one year. Is this correct?

Answer—So long as she is in mourning she should not go to very gay places of amusement. But if she wishes to attend a dignified amusement, such as motion pictures, a stage play or a bridge at the home of a friend, there is no one who could justifiably criticize her for so doing. One's personal feelings should decide such matters.

People in mourning should have some diversion to keep their minds from dwelling too much on their sorrows. Give her invitations and abide by her decisions in the matter.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WHEN IS A MAN "DRUNK"?

Late one hot afternoon an elderly gentleman, bolstered up on each side, by a sweating Samaritan wended his wavering way homeward. As he was finally being deposited upon a couch in his home, his wife, blanched by the thought of a possible injury to her better half, entered the room. With a mighty effort "hubby" sought to ease her mind.

"M' darlin', noshing wrong; stroke paralysis; s'all."

Now it would be natural to say that the weary way-farer was drunk. But unless he admitted it himself, how can we give ourselves the authority so to say? If the adage, "A man is as old as he feels," is true, why not adopt its corollary?

"A man is as drunk as he admits." The hero of Harry Lauder's song, "Fu the Nu" tells of a Scotchman, who answered the question of "When is a mon fued?" and it is still a "burnin' question."

The courts have trouble often in determining this question, but down Dixie the Courts are presided over by true Southerners. Here is one Judge who admitted the difficulty of defining the word "drunk."

"It must be borne in mind that a liquor is not intoxicating, unless it will make a person drunk who drinks it, and it is extremely difficult to draw the line on a 'drunk.' There are various stages, such as 'quarter drunk,' 'half drunk,' and 'real drunk.' There are the stages of being 'drunk,' 'foxy tipsy,' and on a high lonesome," and it is about as difficult to determine when a young lady gets to be an old maid as it is to tell when a man has taken enough alcoholic stimulant to pass the line between a 'jolly sober' and a 'gentlemanly drunk."

LOS ANGELES—Dr. Herbert Newby McCoy receives news he was awarded the Willard Gibbs medal by the American chemical society for his work in radio-activity. "I am just as surprised as anybody."

AFTER THE BATTLE
I took this satisfaction from the fray
That when we two rivaled next
We shall meet
We shall not have one bitter word to say
As we review the victory and defeat.

We can sit down and live the struggle over
And laughingly recount the telling blows
How was the fight? In but a few days men
There will be scarce another man who knows.

Rivals we were, and bitterly we fought,
But man lives on past many a struggle's end,
And there is satisfaction in the thought
When next we meet he'll greet me as a friend.

WASHINGTON
AT A GLANCEProgressives
With President

Are In Close Alignment Although Neither Can Agree On How Far To Go

IN ACCORD ON MANY POINTS

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Progressiveism in congress generally is pro-Roosevelt.
It agrees with the White House incumbent that the supreme court must be curbed. To accomplish this purpose it is more insistent upon a constitutional amendment than the president is.
He was expected in his message to the legislators, when they met Jan. 5, to recommend stricter limitation, by the amendment method, of the high tribunal's powers. But he gave it is his opinion that the constitution will do as it is. The plan he suggested was something in the nature of an appeal to the justices' better natures; moral suasion so to speak.

The Progressives are skeptical that a majority of the august judges have any better natures to appeal to. They urge a constitutional surgical operation to abridge the federal bench's authority.

AGREE ON THIS

Still, president and Progressives concur:

Something "must" be done about the federal supreme court.

The president hopes that it may be done by kindly argument.

The Progressives hold that it can be done only by clinical methods of a drastic character.

In principle they see eye to eye.

One way or another, the supreme court must be semi-emasculated—by acquiescence on the court's own part or by main strength.

Opinions differ only in the matter of detail.

They want them preserved.

FAVOR ORGANIZATION

Progressives also are at one with the president in the judgment that the government ought to be re-organized.

They realize as well as he does that a wasteful bureaucracy has been built up in recent years; that commissions and boards, and miscellaneous offices overlap and conflict. They desire eliminations, consolidations, increased efficiency, economy—as does the president.

But, among these independent set-ups, the Progressives have some particular pets.

They want them preserved.

WANT THESE RETAINED

These bodies include the Civil Service Interstate Commerce, Federal Trade and Federal Power commissions.

They long ante-date present times, depression times or war times.

Some of them hark back to the first President Roosevelt's days.

They were Progressive in their origin and, somehow, they always have remained predominantly so.

REMAIN PROGRESSIVE

For example, the I. C. C. has been muddling progressive throughout its history of a couple of generations.

Federal trade has been conspicuously so.

Federal power, of more recent date has been consistently in progressive hands.

Congressional Progressives do not fancy the notion of having these hitherto independent groups absorbed into federal departments, like commerce under such a notorious conservation (not to say reactionary) as Secretary Roper's jurisdiction.

WHO THEY ARE

By Progressives, whom do I mean? Well, speaking for the senate, which, being a compact body, is easy to enumerate.

Senators Bone, Borah, Frazier, Johnson, Norris and Nye, classifying as Republicans; La Follette, classifying officially as a Progressive; Wheeler, classifying as a Democrat; Senators Shipstead and Lundeen, classifying as Farmer-Laborites.

BALANCE OF POWER

That is a bloc of 10 at least, regardless of some "straddlers" relative to governmental reorganization and the supreme court's rights.

That bloc is sufficient to decide the issue.

The inter-party "straddlers," are the folk to worry about.

BIRD-IN-HAND

Do you know that Bird-in-Hand in Lancaster County was originally the name of an inn that was built more than 200 years ago?

This unusual name was that of a road-house. The name was printed on a swinging sign suspended over the hotel entrance. The sign bore a picture of a bird in a hand. In 1734 surveyors used this inn as headquarters while surveying Lampeter Township, which in 1841 was divided into east and west portions. The Vigorous people count on healthy nerves and proper nutrition to see them through. When you smoke Camels, the flow of digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—speeds up. And you have a sense of digestive well-being. Camels are milder—better for steady smoking.

One of the hardest duties a judge is called upon to perform is that of sentencing some fellow human being to punishment for crime committed. The work of presiding over trials requires unusual ability, permitting the inclusion of certain evidence, excluding other evidence, deciding knotty legal questions, all require a peculiar ability and a sound knowledge of the law. Sentencing is something again.

The judge must be hard hearted enough to see that stern justice is done, yet human enough to know when to stay the legal whip. Whether a convicted criminal has been given enough punishment or too much, whether society would not be injured by the freeing of some, whether the individual will be truly

The number of dog licenses now issued by County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland is well over 1600. The kennel licenses are not yet in but are expected daily. Kennel licenses apply to those persons who raise dogs for sale. A dog owned under a kennel license cannot be used for hunting. A kennel license costs $10, where the license for a male dog costs but $1.10 and for a female $2.10. Apparently upon the theory that the "female of the species is more deadly than the male."

Your Income Tax In A Nutshell

HOW TO AVOID COMMON ERRORS

The period for the filing of income tax returns covering the calendar year 1936 begins January 1 and ends at midnight of March 15. To file early is of mutual benefit to the government and the taxpayer. With this period are filed annually millions of individual income tax returns, a large proportion of which report income subject to the tax. The latter contain a considerable percentage of errors, which if uncorrected by the audit would result to the disadvantage of the taxpayer. Many are errors of computation easily discovered on the face of the return, which usually is accompanied by a payment of more than the amount of tax due. In other returns it is readily discernible that the taxpayer has failed to take advantage of the personal exemption, credit allowed for dependents, or deductions from gross income to which he is entitled.

To avoid these and other errors, the Bureau of Internal Revenue urges careful reading of the instructions on the forms for filing the returns. Additional information, if needed, may be obtained at the office of a collector of internal revenue, deputy collector, or an internal revenue agent in charge. Also, as a further aid in the preparation of a correct income-tax return for the year 1936, the bureau has prepared a series of short newspaper articles, of which this is the first, advising the salaried man, wage earner, professional and business man—in fact, every class of individual taxpayer—of his requirements and privileges as interpreted under the latest regulations, rulings, and decisions relating to the income-tax law.

MAN IN HOSPITAL

CANNOT TELL NAME

Police and hospital authorities are puzzled over the case of a man who is believed to be Rudolph Weyer, or Uweyer, possibly a Hungarian, who was taken to the hospital Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, suffering with lacerations of the head. His condition is not serious hospital authorities stated.

The man is unable to speak English, and wrote his name in his native language, which the hospital authorities resembled the above. The man is said to have received his injuries when struck by a shovel, alleged by police to have been wielded by John Short, colored, in the city jail.

Red Cross Asks For $4,000,000

Would Dispatch Vast Sums To Flooded Areas To Relieve Suffering

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The American Red Cross today called for a $4,000,000 public subscription for relief of flood sufferers in the Ohio-Mississippi flood areas, doubling its prior estimates.

Admiral Cary T. Grayson, Red Cross chairman, wired all Red Cross divisions to double their quotas which had been placed at $2,000,000. The Red Cross already has allocated $1,000,000 of its own funds for flood disaster work. The $4,000,000 additional would make a total of $5,000,000 estimated as necessary.

"Even more than $5,000,000 may be required," Grayson said.

DOESN'T ANY MAN REALLY WANT ME?

I USED TO HAVE LOTS OF DATES—NOW NO ONE EVEN CALLS ME. AM I LOSING MY LOOKS OR PEP OR SOMETHING?

DO YOU MIND AN OLD FRIEND ASKING YOU A QUESTION? —ARE YOU USING LIFEBOUY THESE DAYS?

WHY, NO, I'M NOT. WHAT'S LIFEBOUY GOT TO DO WITH IT?

DEAR, LIKE THE REST OF US, YOU NEED REGULAR LIFEBOUY PROTECTION AGAINST "B.O."—LIFEBOUY CONTAINS A SPECIAL PURIFYING INGREDIENT THAT'S NOT IN ANY OTHER WELL-KNOWN TOILET SOAP.

LATER
MY, I'M GLAD I WENT BACK TO LIFEBOUY. IT'S DONE THE MOST MARVELOUS THINGS FOR MY SKIN, TOO. IT MUST BE THAT SPECIAL INGREDIENT.

"B.O." GONE... Plenty of Suitors
SO YOU'RE THE GIRL WHO THOUGHT NO MAN WANTED HER. YOU'RE CERTAINLY RUSHED OFF YOUR FEET TONIGHT.

BUT I WOULDN'T BE IF YOU HADN'T GIVEN ME THAT SOUND ADVICE. BELIEVE ME, I'LL NEVER DESERT LIFEBOUY AGAIN.

Protect your skin's glamour—this way:
GUARD that fresh smoothness of skin that men adore with regular use of Lifebuoy. Its lather cleans thoroughly, but ever so gently. For it's more than 20% milder than many so-called "beauty soaps" and "baby soaps." "Patch" tests made on the skins of hundreds of women prove it!

Winter warning: Warm rooms and heavy clothing increase dangers of "B.O." Lifebuoy lather with the special purifying ingredient will keep you safe! The clean scent of the ingredient rinses away. Wash your hands with Lifebuoy, too. For germs of 27 diseases may be spread by hands—and Lifebuoy removes germs as well as dirt!

Class Day Is Much Enjoyed

Seniors At High School
Have Annual Program
This Morning

MANY MEMBERS OF
CLASS ON PROGRAM

To the tune of a gay martial air, 214 members of the graduating class of the senior high school marched into the auditorium this morning for the customary program of hilarity and fun which marks the close of the school career for a number of students twice each year.

Garbed in many gay blue creations, the girls presented a beautiful sight as they marched down the aisle between the male members of the class, who were attired in suits of blue and white "dinks". Balloons and novelties of various kinds, likewise in keeping with the color scheme, sailed about over the heads of the students throughout the entire program.

Every little detail was worked out perfectly and as the curtains parted, Interlocutor Bob Cole came forth and introduced the various speakers and their acts. The popular minstrel show was brought into being as the basis for the performance, and the end men, Reid Shiner, Jack McConahy, Thomas Twaddle and Paul Rumbaugh, with their wise remarks and subtle humor, added greatly to the entertainment of the undertaking.

Paul Jones, prominent member of the class, rendered a guitar solo which held the undivided attention of the entire audience. His rendition was followed by a complete history of the class from the time when they entered the school three years ago until the present time. This was very ably given by Mary Ellen Henderson, "A Chapel in the Moonlight," in the form of a piano solo, was played by Irma Waggoner. And of course as no minstrel show would be entirely complete without its "barber shop quartet," Stanley Kominic, Paul Jones, Sam Sallman and Franklin Rice came to the rescue and sang "Sweet Adeline," LeRoy Cox, the star football player, who made an outstanding record for his class, exhibited his unusual skill on the harmonica. He brought an entire train, whistle and all right up to the stage, with the aid of the musical instrument. His next selection was one of more excitement, it bringing to life a fox hunt. One could picture the fox being frantically chased through the woods by the barking dogs, followed by the encouraging hunters.

Throughout the entire program, music was furnished by a 10-piece band under the baton of Jack Cartwright, and it was to this accompaniment that the following persons rendered solos: Jack McConahy, Tom Twaddle, Paul Rumbaugh and George Stutzinger.

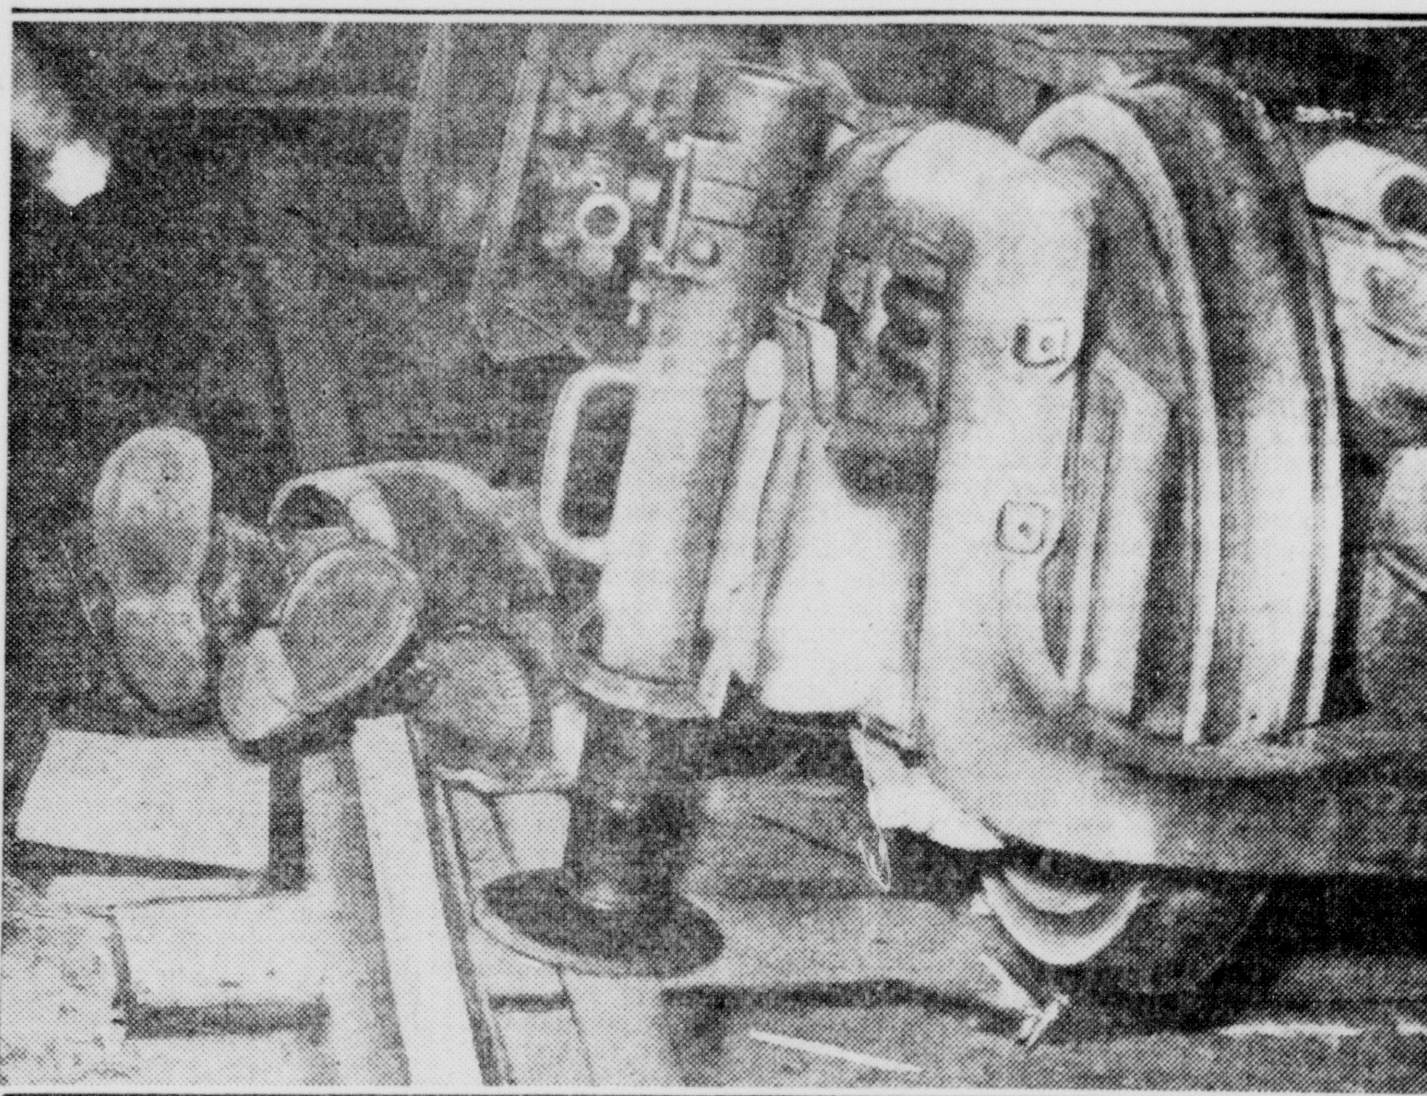

Class will be Jean Ramsey and class prophecy by Bettie Brown followed in their respective places on the program. The highlight of the program was reached when Paul Rumbaugh, acting as class knocker, proceeded to literally take the reputations of his fellow classmates, and by clever remarks, make them look very deceiving.

Miss Katherine Hartsuff, prominent local dancer, featured with a delightful dance number which was encored several times. She too was dressed in a blue dance outfit. The committee in charge of the program, and to whom credit for its success goes, includes Bob Cole, Reid Shiner, Wanda Wynder and Helen Wilson. The stage properties were most capably handled by Carmen DeLorenzo and Edward Fortney.

Following the program, the entire class proceeded en masse to New Wilmington where they would eat their dinner and spend the afternoon dancing.

Everybody with good sense knows right from wrong. The trouble is that nothing seems wrong when nice people like us do it.

Death Under a Subway Train

Angus McDonald, 36, Boston subway worker, was atop a portable tower when a split switch hurled a car off the rails and smashed it against the subway wall. McDonald was thrown from the tower, under the wheels and instantly ground to death. City firemen jacked up the cars for the removal of the body. This dramatic picture shows the victim's feet protruding from the track just before firemen removed him.

LOCAL STREAMS RISE RAPIDLY SUNDAY NIGHT

ly isolated it. Water was running over the road leading from Route 18 to the plant.

Looking west from the Pennsylvania railroad bridge at the end of Montgomery avenue, all one could see was a vast extent of water which lapped against the railroad embankment as far as one could see, and extended across to the tracks of the B. and O. and P. and L. E. railroads to the right, "Kilkenny," as that district at the bottom of South Cedar and South Liberty streets, is known, was under considerable water.

Rail operations between New Castle and Youngstown on the Pennsylvania railroad were halted by the high water which covered the tracks in several places, but the Baltimore and Ohio and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie were still operating. It was stated this morning. The tracks of the P. and L. E. railroad were just covered in spots, but the water was not deep enough to halt operations, although the trains were forced to travel slowly through the districts affected. Below Wampum, the tracks were covered it was stated, and west of the city.

Rail Business Increased
The Baltimore and Ohio railroad had not been affected up until mid-morning. Terminal Trainmaster Cable said, and they were hoping that they would be able to get through the emergency safely. All the important rail traffic which generally goes through Cincinnati is being re-routed through New Castle, and the local terminal has been handling a tremendous amount of business, during the past few days, Mr. Cable stated.

Firemen Prepared
All the city firemen who were off duty last night were called back into service when it looked as if they might be needed for rescue work if the rivers went over their banks, and they spent the night at Central station, along with some of the volunteer firemen, waiting for the emergency which fortunately did not arrive.

On Neshannock avenue, the water came in a few of the lowest yards along the street, and backed into cellars. It flowed out the storm sewer entrance at the corner of North street, but did not cover the roadway. Water also backed out of the storm sewers and sanitary sewers between Grant street and the Shenango river, and boiled up through the manhole openings in several places.

Big Run Also Bad
Big Run was also bad, the water throughout the course of the stream being the highest in years, although there was no damage such as occurred when the ice gorged at Moravia street last spring and backed the water up, forcing the stream out of its course in the South Side.

For a time the railroad bridge of the B. R. and P. was threatened. Sifton Run, which drains the Big Meadow district looking like a real river for a time, joining Big Run at Weingartner's on the Butler road, to form a lake some 50 acres or more in extent.

Between East Brook Station and East Brook the water was over the roadway and was also over the road along Neshannock Narrows below the old Paper Mill.

Big Run did some damage in Cascade Park, washing out about 100 feet of the under-pinning of the George Hyde, according to Chris Coulthard, superintendent of the park. Water was within two feet of overflowing the embankment in the upper portion of the park and in the lower portion, covered the island, lapped against the bathhouse but did not flow over Cascade boulevard. The water this morning subsided to normal, according to Coulthard.

When water lodged in Cherry street, a call was sent by a family to the police department and, according to reports, Scout Car Operators Harper and Gols conveyed one family from their home. Other patrolmen used a scout car as an ambulance to transfer a woman, who was ill, from a Neshannock avenue home to a North street residence.

Merchants Alarmed.
Rapidly rising water in the Neshannock creek threw a scare into merchants Sunday evening, and when the water gradually rose until it lapped against the North street bridge, merchants worked feverishly removing stock from their basements. The stream reached its crest about 2 o'clock this morning, after which it started to go down slowly. By 9 o'clock this morning it had only fallen about three or four inches, but it was expected to fall faster as the day wore on.

The Shenango stood at a stage of 14½ feet at 9 o'clock this morning, a rise of about a foot since 9 o'clock last evening, so that danger from this point seemed unlikely, although the stream was still rising slowly. It and at its present rate of rise, would reach a stage of 15½ feet last week not be at that point again until tonight.

The Shenango has to go around

18 feet before there is danger to the business district, so that a flood now seems unlikely.

The North street bridge over the Neshannock seemed to be the converging point for everyone watching the water last night, and Croton avenue and North street were blocked with traffic from 9 o'clock last evening until after 1 o'clock this morning.

It was necessary to put police on duty to handle the traffic and keep motorists from parking on the bridge and blocking traffic. The usual flock of unfounded rumors floated through the city—"the Neshannock was over its banks, the Shenango was rising a foot an hour, Big Run had washed out the South Side and in the seventh ward! It was terrible!" And of course Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen had to find out.

Many Cellars Flooded
The water did get into a lot of cellars. Mahoning avenue was under water which swept down from the hillside in Oakland and street car traffic was suspended to the seventh ward for a time, but automobiles and buses were able to get through. Office employees of the Shenango works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company were called out shortly before midnight to remove the records from the basement of the office, when it looked as if the cellar would be flooded. Cellars of homes were flooded on Mahoning avenue and Preston avenue. Firemen received calls for pumping service, but had to deny them. There was not enough fire trucks to go around, and a few would have had to be kept for fire service.

East Cherry street and Bolt street were under water this morning, it being impossible to cross the East Cherry street bridge because of the high water. This section has been flooded almost continuously for the past week because of the high water in the Shenango river.

Some idea of how rapidly the streams came up, may be gained by the fact that at 1:30 Sunday afternoon the Neshannock was clear and down to a stage of about two feet in depth. An hour later it started to muddy up and rise. By 7 o'clock last evening it was flowing over the pier in the center of the North street bridge, and it gradually rose from then until 1 o'clock, when it splashed against the bottom of the bridge occasionally.

The Mahoning river rose almost as rapidly as the Neshannock, although it had been at a higher stage, and at 4 o'clock this morning started to cover the Mt. Jackson and Wampum roads.

Maritime Strike Brought To End

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The maritime strike in Atlantic and Gulf ports, after being in effect for 86 days, came to an end today. Twenty-five hundred striking seamen, at a meeting here last night, voted to abandon the strike, and were advised by their leaders to go back to work. No settlement was made with shipowners, but hope was held out to the men that some of their grievances might be adjusted later by the National Labor Relations Board.

Longevity isn't arrived at arbitrarily. It takes some people longer than others to grow old.

Pittsburgh To Extend Aid To Flood Districts

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25.—A grateful Pittsburgh, spared a repetition of the disastrous flood visitation of last March, today stretched out the hand of relief to its sorely hit neighbor cities further down the Ohio and elsewhere.

Led by Mayor Cornelius D. Scully, a drive was begun to raise $150,000 for flood relief outside the state. A meeting with cabinet officials and the local Red Cross was immediately followed by the dispatch of a special train to Louisville with a preliminary shipment of 1,500 blankets. Five truckloads of food and clothing were also sent to Portsmouth, O., along with 108 cots from the City hospital.

Acting on an appeal from the mayor, Gov. George H. Earle forwarded 450 national guard cots and 500 blankets, which were immediately reshipped to Louisville.

Meanwhile over the radio, in five separate appeals, Mayor Scully called on Pittsburgh "to show its gratitude" for the aid received during the disastrous St. Patrick's Day flood last year and contribute liberally.

Arkansas Has Large Section Now Under Water

(International News Service)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 25.—Flood waters today were covering portions of 12 counties in north-eastern Arkansas, causing the state even greater concern than the catastrophe of 1927.

Gov. Carl E. Bailey, after making a personal inspection trip of the affected area, expressed fear that the total number of homeless might reach the 100,000 mark.

Practically all communication lines from the flood areas were down. Rescue and health work was being directed partially from the outside by short-wave radio.

Allegheny Rises In Oil City Area

(International News Service)

OIL CITY, Pa., Jan. 25.—Water flooded store basements in the Allegheny section here today as the Allegheny river continued to rise toward flood stage.

With flood stage at 22 feet, the river here rose from 15 feet at four p. m. Sunday to 19 feet, 11 inches at the last reading, boosted by an all-day rain yesterday of 2.12 inches.

At Franklin the river was also reported rising, the official reading being 65 of a foot from flood stage, which is 17 feet, an increase of 5.95 feet since five p. m. Sunday.

Volant Lowlands Flooded Sunday

Flood waters of the Little Neshannock covered the "flats" of Volant from Allen's tin shop to Wilkins' store and did not begin to recede until 5 o'clock this morning. The creek and C. C. Johnson mill race formed one body of water which covered all the lowlands between the two Volant bridges. The highway itself, on a higher level, remained clear.

Coast Guard Boats Pass Through Here

Trainload Of Boats Enroute To Middle-West Goes Over B. And O. Railroad

At 10:30 this morning a special train consisting of about eight cars, loaded with coast guard boats, consigned to the flood area near Cairo, Ill., passed through the city on the B. and O. railroad.

Supplies of all kinds are being rushed to the flood areas of Southern Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky, which are now experiencing the worst flood in years.

Mail Delivery Near Normal Once More

New Castle's mails were still being delivered under a handicap today.

Although 14 employees—nine carriers, five clerks—were off duty because of illness, Superintendent of Mails David B. Thomas announced that "practically all of the city will receive normal delivery service today." He said five of the employees off Saturday returned today, but two more took sick over the weekend.

One complete parcel post delivery was made throughout the city on Sunday, Mr. Thomas said, in order to clear the shelves of packages piled up on Saturday.

"Gradually we're getting in good shape," he said. "But it's tough when your regulars are sick."

FEBRUARY SALE SURPRISE!

HANEY'S Surprise- AGAIN

Despite the Rising Market, the High price of Raw Materials, Haney's Continue to Offer Breath-taking Values, Unrivalled in the Entire Trade.

The Furniture Market, along with other commodity markets, is rising. Furniture prices, however, are climbing at a more rapid pace than other commodities because of several factors. Firstly, the very low prices that have prevailed over the last few years have been depression prices on merchandise manufactured during the lean years. This merchandise has all but disappeared from the market. Secondly, the market rise in the cost of raw materials. The prices prevailing on the Chicago and Grand Rapids markets just attended by Haney's Buyers, indicate that a general increase of 25% to 35%. In some departments of home furnishings an advance of 45% has been witnessed. HANEY'S PRICES WILL REMAIN UNCHANGED AS LONG AS STOCKS PERMIT. Haney's urge you to take advantage of the Low Prices prevailing on their Sales Floors and buy now for the future. Merchandise will be stored until needed without charge.

GOVERNMENT SENDS AID TO FLOOD AREAS

All Agencies Join In Work

Military Relief And Health Services Cooperate To Extend Aid

PREPARE TO CARE FOR 350,000 REFUGEES

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The military, relief and health services of the federal government were operating on a wartime basis today to help residents of the flooded areas.

President Roosevelt took this action last night after a special White House conference with his military, naval and relief agency chiefs and with Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, national chairman of the Red Cross. However, Mr. Roosevelt had the doors of six army supply depots thrown open to provide tents, cots, bedding and medicine for the flood rescue work. These bases are at Philadelphia, New Cumberland, Pa., Columbus, O., Jeffersonville, Ind., San Antonio, Texas, and Chicago. The supply bases of the navy and the marine corps will be opened if additional supplies are needed.

Those called to the executive mansion were: Gen. Malin Craig, army chief of staff; Admiral William Leahy, chief of naval operations; Rear Admiral R. R. Waesche, coast guard commandant; WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, CCC Director Robert Fechner and Rear Admiral Grayson.

On 24-Hour Day Basis. The government's flood-fighting relief agencies will function day and night—24 hours a day—under the war-basis program.

Gen. Craig reported the 33,000 population of Paducah, Ky., were being evacuated by the coast guard, Red Cross and the district army engineers.

Food, clothing, medical supplies and portable shelters for about 350,000 refugees were being stacked today for transportation and distribution by the combined federal-Red Cross emergency setup.

The commander of the fifth army corps area, in whose territory most of the flood damage has occurred, was telegraphed blanket orders by the war department to establish and furnish refugee camps wherever he deemed them necessary. He was told to open his supplies to the victims.

No Federal Troops. General Craig said he could not comply with the request of Governor Chandler of Kentucky to send federal troops to help patrol the inundated sections because of a law prohibiting the services of federal troops in a state before the state has exhausted all its own facilities.

More than 4,500 soldiers and 35,000 WPA workers were enlisted in the relief and rescue work today in addition to 12,000 youths and men from the CCC camps in the afflicted area. Already 100,000,000 comforters, made on WPA sewing projects, have been shipped to the devastated sections for distribution.

So far the WPA has borrowed or rented 300 boats to effect rescues and to transport supplies while the navy stands ready to dispatch boats, loaded with supplies and medicine, to the stricken sections when needed. They will be sent from Norfolk, Va., and Philadelphia ports.

Capt. Leroy Weinberg of Chicago was designated coast guard commander of disaster relief.

Admiral Grayson directed all his disaster relief directors to spare no expense or efforts to rush food, clothing and rescue boats or other means of transportation to flood stricken towns.

Armed Resistance Met By Engineers

Driven Off In First Attempt To Dynamite Levee Below Cairo, Ill.

(International News Service) MEMPHIS, Jan. 25.—Met with armed resistance when they attempted to cut open the "fuse plug" spillway at Birds Point-New Madrid below Cairo, Ill., yesterday army engineers will be reinforced by national guardsmen when they dynamite the levee today.

Orders calling out the soldiers were issued here late yesterday, it was announced by Lieut. Col. Eugene Reynolds, U. S. district engineer.

The levee when broken open will allow the filling of a 131,000 acre tract south of Cairo and reduce the size of the wall of water now pounding on the levees there.

Farmers living in the area drove off the engineers yesterday. Threatening the unarmed government men with rifles the farmers declared they would protect their homes with bullets if need be.

Under the Jadwin-flood control plan which provides for the opening of the levee when the stage at Cairo reaches 57 feet, occupants of the flooded area will receive compensation for their losses. The river was nearly two feet above the 57 mark at Cairo today.

Beware The Cough From a common cold That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the remedial elements common to many remedies, such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membrane and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle

Poe Landmark Still Standing

Place Where Famous Writer Once Roomed Has Served Variety Of Purposes

DOORMAN JOB IS LOOKING UP

(By O. O. McIntyre)
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Diary: The morning started off with two pleasing touches. A proof of a piece R. H. Hughes wrote about me for a Cosmopolitan series and my new motor license number. Just 05. So gabbing with Arthur J. Burks, king pin of the pulp writers, about his room in the northwest. For a snack at Frank Case's and with my lady to see a Corot, for which we have about decided to article. Then sitting a while with Ewing Gallows talking of our old Kelly how few left. Then home and found Lolita and Denise Coblenz had called.

Dinner at the Colony and Gloria Swanson and her husband, Count de la—however you pile it up—were dining in genial tete-a-tete. So to my desk and a batch of letters from some favorite correspondents which included H. T. Webster, Gelett Burgess, Roscoe Peacock and Faith Baldwin.

One of the lesser known Edgar Allan Poe landmarks in New York is at 126 Cedar street now occupied by a dark-timbered cafe called Ye Old Cedar Inn. At one time it was a jail, later a fire house and still later a rooming house where Poe had quarters. It is still quaint with much of the ancient atmosphere preserved. An old fireplace in the dining room and a balcony encircling it and leading from this is a door to Poe's room. The present proprietor says he has a steady clientele more interested in good food and drinks than in "poetry and atmosphere." He didn't seem interested in attracting the writing trade.

The post of doorman is no longer the flunkey job it once was. Especially in certain stretches of Park avenue in Sutton Place and pontifical East End avenue. There are many records of policemen resigning to take the less authoritative places. And, of course, there are those extra dandy assignments as such hotels as the Waldorf, Ritz and such. There are doormen who with their Christmas gifts make around $6,000 a year and the hazards, compared to that of policing, are far less.

For the best of the printable titles for the Clare Boothe Luce hussy play: Harry Evans' "The Park Avenue Tobacco Road."

Mitzi Green, once a yowling brat of the flickers, is now a grown up lady of the night club. Appearing before sophisticated stay-outs with her ventures in the mimetic art. She is indeed astonishing—topped only by perhaps the inimitable Sheila Barrett. And is one of the few "wonder kiddies" of the screen who after enormous juvenile success has been able to carry on in a different field reaching maturity. Another impersonator with a vogue this winter was an impertinent known as Afrique. Although portly he gave an impersonation of King Edward that was nothing short of amazing. But the all time top in mimicry to me was Pert Kelton's of Charlie Chaplin.

The mimic was once what Abe Martin called "the rara avis bird." There were scarcely a half dozen and now the woods are full. Over the radio on the screen and what is left of vaudeville. So to excel in the field is something of an achievement. For years Elsie Janis reigned on this side of the Atlantic and Cissie Loftus on the other.

Until a recent quick journey to Wm. Earl Carroll had not seen the theatre he built on 7th avenue since the day in a bankrupt action he lost it. He always avoided the corner. But taxiing across town, he looked up from a newspaper and was in front of it. The spell was broken and he went in, prowled about and heaved a few sighs. And in some dark recess perhaps brushed away a rising tear.

Bagatelles: Bert Laahr was once a $21 a week star in 14th street vaudeville. Mrs. Paul Whiteman allows Paul one dinner a week with diet rules suspended. The Roy Howards' daughter Jane is doing research work for the Museum of Natural History. Nora Bayes was considered the most temperamental of all vaudeville stars.

There arrived by express the other day a hamper from a food corporation of its various samples—cereals, puddings, coffee, cocoa, chocolate, cake, crackers, tapioca and what not. A certain lady observed: "They probably just heard of New York's two neediest cases."

Three Applicants For Postmaster At New Bedford

Contest For Nomination Is Between Three Women Candidates

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25.—Three applicants were in the field for the postmastership at New Bedford when applications to take the competitive examination for the job closed at the Civil Service Commission on January 22, the commission announced today.

The applicants are Mrs. Ruby G. Zimmerman, Miss Thelma L. Shields and Mrs. Mildred I. Cuckert. Selection of all postmasters for first, second and third class offices is now based entirely on rating secured by candidates in the competitive examination, as a result of President Roosevelt's order placing all such postmasterships under civil service.

Any late applications showing by postmark they were mailed before the closing date will be accepted. Notice of the date for the examination will be sent directly to the applicants as soon as the date has been set, which will probably be within the next ten days.

The examination for the New Bedford postmasterships is to be held at New Castle.

The South African government is refusing to back the West Coast air service proposed in London, being committed to the East Coast line and opposed to "wasteful competition."

Every New Castle Bus Or Car Operator Has Safety Record

New Castle will send a solid delegation to the annual safety dinner celebrations of the Penn-Ohio Transportation System in Youngstown next Thursday. Every one of the 27 operators on the local street car and bus lines won his way to participation in the celebrations by operating throughout either the first half or the second half of 1936 without a single accident being charged against his record.

Of these men, 24 had the further distinction of operating their vehicles throughout the entire year without such accident. These records are all the more notable in view of the increased traffic in the streets traversed by the New Castle Electric Street Railway Company's services last year as compared with 1935.

At Youngstown the New Castle men will be joined by a similar solid delegation of 32 from Sharon and by better than 90 per cent of the Youngstown city bus and car operators, who had made clear records for one or the other of the six-month periods into which last year was divided in the continuous safety drive of the management and employees of the transportation services.

Of the total of 276 Penn-Ohio System operators, 256, or 92.8 per cent had half-year accident-free records. Of this number 184, or 69.4 per cent were free from chargeable accident for the entire year.

In order that all can attend the dinner meetings to celebrate the safety victory two dinners will be held in the Hotel Ohio. One will be at noon for the men who work late in the afternoon and evening. The other will be at 7 o'clock in the evening for the men on the early runs.

A short address by R. N. Graham, executive vice president of the transportation companies, will be the only speech at the dinners. During the dinners music will be furnished by the Texas Dribblers. Following will be a varied program of entertainment under the direction of Bill Waters as master of ceremonies.

Following are the New Castle operators who had half-year accident-free records:

T. D. Allen, M. E. Bare, D. H. Barge, P. N. Brest, C. C. Clark, C. E. Douglas, Edward Fink, D. K. Frazier, C. J. Garwig, J. E. Gorman, A. H. Heasley, M. J. Hunter, A. C. Kellner, W. A. Kyle, J. G. Would Prevent River Pollution

Survey Provided By Bill In Congress Includes Beaver River

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25.—A survey of the Beaver river, with a view to the prevention of pollution is sought in a bill now pending before congress.

The bill, introduced into the present session by Representative Spence of Kentucky, provides for a stream pollution investigation of the Ohio river and its tributaries. The Beaver would be included as one of the tributaries to be investigated.

Representative Kirwan said he would support the proposal for the anti-pollution investigation of the Ohio river and its tributaries.

In addition to Kirwan, several other members of the Ohio delegation have indicated they would favor the proposal as the first step toward pollution control.

Representative Spence said he felt the control of stream pollution was one of the major health problems facing the nation today.

Not only does stream pollution affect areas which draw their water from rivers, but cities which obtain drinking water from wells. As a result of pollution of many of the tributaries of the Ohio, wells and ground water supplies in many parts of the river valley are becoming unsafe as a source of domestic water supply, Spence said.

The bill provides that the survey be undertaken by the army engineers in cooperation with the United States Public Health Service, and that on completion of the investigation a report be submitted to congress.

Urge Women And Children Leave City Of Cairo, Ill.

(International News Service)

CAIRO, Ill., Jan. 25.—With water lapping at the brink of the 60 foot levee here, Mayor August Bode today issued a proclamation urging all women and children to leave town at once.

The crest of the flood is not expected until Thursday, and it will undoubtedly, be necessary to dynamite the "fuse plug" levee at the Birds Point-New Madrid floodway south if here in the city is to be saved.

Martial laws is already in effect at Mound City, Ill., with the water within eight inches of the levee brink, all available manpower was mobilized to heap sandbags.

Refugees Flock To Indianapolis

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 25.—A dozen trains bore thousands of flood refugees from the Ohio river regions of Indiana to safety northward early today.

Every Indiana town en route was required by state and local officials to care for the flood sufferers. From 200 to 600 persons were dropped off at each stop where there was a settlement.

The towns, however, willing to aid, are short of cots, blankets and food, and supplies are being rushed in as fast as possible.

No Additional State Taxes Are To Be Requested

Budget Estimate Will Not Call For Additional Taxes For Two Years

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 25.—Gov. George H. Earle's budget estimate to be presented to the 132nd general assembly next Monday evening will not ask Pennsylvanians to pay additional taxes during the next two years, it was learned today.

While the chief executive put the finishing touches to the proposed 1937-38 budget, Democratic legislators returned for the fourth week of deliberations with relief and flood control commanding their immediate attention.

Throughout yesterday and today Governor Earle met with administration chiefs, slashing budget estimates "to the bone," determined no additional tax burdens will be placed on the commonwealth and hopeful some reductions might be possible.

Obstacle to any reduction was the administration's contemplated institutional building program, expected to be one of the most far-reaching in the commonwealth's history. Sources close of Governor Earle told International News Service the chief executive at the present time would rather leave taxes as they are instead of curtailing the program.

Pittsburgh Rivers Rise During Night

May Reach 30 Foot Stage During Day It Is Now Forecast

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25.—Renewed rainfall that fell with monotonous regularity today sent flood waters on the rise once more here today after a brief fall.

From a crest of 32.9 feet, 7.9 feet above flood level, the waters fell to 27.9 feet Sunday but new rains sent them spurring to 29.2 feet early today with a 30-foot crest predicted.

Rain fell over the entire western Pennsylvania watershed and more was predicted for today, although some hope was expressed by W. S. Brotzman, U. S. weather forecaster, for colder weather tonight.

Several hundred families being cared for at public refuges were attempting to clean the mud and debris from their flooded homes and at the same time remained prepared to flee in the event the new rise continues beyond present calculations.

Downtown streets were lined with gasoline pumps drawing the yellow flood waters from basements of buildings. Emergency shelters were still being used in Sharpsburg, McKees Rock and sections of the north side of the city. Where possible, streets were being cleaned.

In grateful appreciation for the aid of other communities when it was so sorely stricken last March, Pittsburgh led the state in gathering money and supplies for the flood ravaged communities down stream. A clearing house was established to gather food, bedding, coats and other supplies. Mayor Cornelius D. Scully appealed over the air for financial aid for the Red Cross.

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News)

Mr. Eckert has nominated Richard Presley Scott, of Butler and Christian Gordon Weeber of Beaver Falls as principal candidates for the cadetships. As first alternates he has designated Michael Richard Travaglio of Butler and George B. Krendel of New Brighton, Russell Kawa, 1597 Poplar street, New Castle, and Truman E. Deyo, of Butler have been named second alternates.

The young men will take the entrance examinations next March and the two successful candidates will enter the academy in June.

Some of them were kept on the job Friday and Saturday night and they also were busy Sunday trying to relieve water conditions in different localities. Water flowed in streams down all the hillsides which resulted in much sewer trouble.

action on Councilman Butler's request that the city buy a new grease gun at a price of about $75.00, so city street department employees could grease motor trucks at the George street building. Mayor Charles E. McGrath said that, in his opinion, all work on motor trucks and city cars should be done at the motor mechanic's shop in Croton avenue.

Deluge of rain which sent streams down hills left a lot of mud on the business district streets and it is probable that the street department employees will have to turn their direction to this situation today or tomorrow.

Water which surged against the North street bridge ate a big hole in the embankment at the northwest corner of the bridge. It was on this side of the Neshannock creek that the city several years ago wanted to erect a stone wall.

Gehrig Wants More Money To Play In 1937

"Iron Man" Lou Is Getting Old And Thinks That He Might As Well Get His Now

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—You can add to the list of New York Yankee holdouts beside the names of outfielders George Selkirk and Jake Powell, Captain and First Baseman Henry Louis Gehrig, the home run champion of the major leagues last season.

Personally, Mr. Gehrig would rather that the whole thing be forgotten for the time being, and at any moment he and Col. Jacob Ruppert, the Yankee owner, may be posed together by the photographers going through the ritual of signing each other up for another year.

Will Get Together

In that case they will have come together on terms, but the iron horse of the Yankees is timidly balking at present, according to good authority.

Always playing every peg safe, Mr. Gehrig himself had this to say today in answer to a question as to whether he was holding out:

"I'm non-committal."

He then confessed that he had received his contract.

He was also "non-committal" on whether or not it suited him.

He explained at some length that the Yankee club would give out the proper information at the proper time, and begged to be excused.

Best In Baseball

Still, you can put two and two together if you are of a mind to, approximately as follows:

He is the best first baseman in baseball today; one of the great sluggers and hitters of all time; in the midst of an iron man streak that has broken all consecutive game records, and the Yankees won the world championship last season.

On top of that, according to reports, the Yankees still offered him scarcely more than the $31,000 he has received in the last two seasons when the Yankees were finishing second in the American League.

It may be that Gehrig is traveling the wrong route. It will be recalled that his erstwhile teammate and idol, Babe Ruth, got a lot more mileage out of much less pay.

WINTER A. C. WINS

Winter A. C. basketball team handed the Tornado team a 39 to 28 defeating Saturday with L. Grossman and Barnett the best for the winners, and McGovern the best for the losers, with 10 points. The Winter A. C. flashed a fast offense.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Joe Louis is favored 10 to one to defeat Bob Pastor in their 10-round bout Friday night at New York. However, Pastor, an ex-collegian believes that if Max Schmeling could stop Louis with a right hand punch he can do equally as well. Jack Blackburn, trainer for Louis, says Pastor will last only a few rounds.

Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets started their second half of the Eastern Amateur Hockey league season at New York by knocking the New York Rovers a 3 to 1 defeat before 15,497 spectators. Second period goals by Houston and Thompson and a third period marker by Grant after a period and a half of scoreless play turned the trick.

Directors of the International League met at New York City and approved the transfer of the Toronto franchise to a group led by Donald Ross. The Jersey City Exhibition company also was approved as the new owner of the Albany franchise and permission was granted for the team to play in Jersey City next season.

Sammy Byrd, one-time Yankee and Red, walked away with the honors in the National Baseball Players Golf Tournament at Sarasota, Fla., yesterday. Byrd posted a one-under-par 70 on the final round to lead the event by 14 strokes. His total score was 284, even par for 72 holes. He won one leg on the Powell Croley trophy.

Ed Grez, of Pomona, Cal., retained the 1935 championship in the 200 mile Daytona Beach national motorcycle race yesterday in a grueling grind which saw two of a field of drivers sent to hospitals with injuries. Those injured were Roy Soutgate of Nashville and Hasper Chafe of Cleveland. Only 35 finished the race.

Hungarian table tennis team beat the American team 12 to 2 in international competition at Budapest. Wayne Sabin beat Ellwood Cooke 6-1, 6-3, 6-4 in the Florida state tennis meet. Edwald Wiesel and Freddie Spencer are tied with a mileage of 712.6 at the end of the forty second hour of the Milwaukee six day bicycle race.

Johnny Lawther's Nittany Lions from State college were defeated by Pitt Panthers 35 to 28, Saturday night at Pittsburgh and Wayneburg won from Slippery Rock 32 to 40. Notre Dame beat Penn. 41 to 36, and Geneva came through over Duquesne, 49 to 30. Temple upset Carnegie Tech 33 to 27 and Bethany won from Fairmont 48 to 46. In wrestling Penn State won from Chicago, 20 to 6, but lost to Pitt in swimming, by six points, or 36 to 30. In boxing, Penn State downed Cornell, 6 to 2.

Catholic Five Wins Again, 45-20

Catholic basketball team of the South Side today has a clean record as a result of a 45-20 victory over the Senior B's. The final score was 45-20.

The triumph was the thirteenth straight of the season for the Catholics. Prosser with 15 points was high man for the winners; Hitt for the losers came through with 9 points.

New Castle Will Meet Butler In First Round Of First Half Of Section Three

New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" basketball team, coasting along just one game back of All-quipa high for first place, will meet the fast Butler high team at the Washington high court on Tuesday evening, it was announced by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner.

The preliminary game with the Butler and New Castle Reserves will start at 7 o'clock. The doors of the school will open at 6:30 o'clock. Butler high, fresh from a 35 to 29 victory over Beaver Falls high last week, will come here to upset the locals if possible. Coach Regis Heinzer has a smooth working team this year and they will wear watching by the other sectional fives.

New Castle, strengthened by the return to form of George "Poppy" Adams, will be in there fighting hard for the victory that they need to stay in second place.

In the big game the Farrells took a 19 to 8 lead at the end of the first half. Land and Supel were the big scorers of the game with 19 of the points between them. For the losers the work of Hnat and Boron was the best.

Hoppe-Schaefer Clash Tonight In Title Match

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Willie Hoppe and Jake Schaefer clash tonight in a revival of the tricky 28-2 balkline billiard game that has been in mothballs since 1894.

Billed as world championship affair, the match is to run 2,500 with blocks of 250 to be played at matinee and evening sessions for the rest of the week.

Schaefer at 7 to 5 odds, hopes to retain his established superiority in the 181 and 182 balkline billiard table sport. The game has been out of the big time since 1894 when it was made popular by Al Bidas of Chicago.

And while we're passing out bouquets, one should go to Lester K. Lash, of Laureldale, Berks County. At the age of ten he had his right arm amputated. He had to learn to do things all over again. But recently he popped up in the news as a crack marksman, scoring 48 out of a possible 50. For a left-handed, one-armed man that's the acme of accomplishment. He also plays tennis, fishes, and drives a car.

Here Are Some Lines Of Yesteryear Sports

Principals And Events Of Former Days Recalled

Jimnie Steiner, now a sergeant of police, while serving in the Merchant Marine, boxed several times and upon his return here fought Tommy Phillips in the Coliseum. Joe Hartman played in the backfield for Ne-Ca-Hi with the International Baseball League, and now coaches Grove City high. They say the Welch Kid who was around here a long time ago was quite a fighter. Terry Mitchell who found in this section a couple decades ago, was quite a cartoonist. He is now in Brooklyn. Jim and Jack Jeffries were not the only battlers by that name. There was a Frank Jeffries who boxed here. He came from Titusville. Eddie Plick, lightweight, under Bob Carleton's tutelage, had lots to do with developing some good amateur boxers at Oil City.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25.—Next fall's grid game between Carnegie Tech and Pitt ought to be a hum-dinger. Not only will it mark the usage of the Pitt power system against a team using the same brand of ball, but it will be a preview on just how much the loss of two valuable assistants like Bill Kern and Dr. Eddie Baker means to veteran Jack Sutherland.

Tech went lock, stock and barrel into its traditional enemy's camp to obtain Kern and Baker, both of whom have compiled enviable records. And the possibility still exists that a triumvirate may yet Skladany will be showing "hoot non" before much time passes.

In the meantime, Sutherland is confronted with the task of repairing his badly crippled coaching staff. Eddie Hirschberg, end coach, faked out of the picture to take a 11 similar post at Dartmouth. Dr. Ralph Daugherty, center coach, dropped out to take up medicine. Now Sutherland must seek high caliber material to replace them.

Although the Skibo's president, Dr. Robert Doherty, turned thumbs down on any form of financial aid, he has given athletes for their sports ability. He opened the doorway for alumni members to "sponsor" students. And he indicated that if Tartans were outclassed on the playing field, the schedule would be weakened until it was on a more equal basis.

Leo Houck, Penn State's boxing mentor, is beginning his 15th season as the Nittany Lion ring master. His teams have always ranked among the leaders in the east, and have won the championship of the eastern intercollegiate association six times since its organization in 1924. Thirty-two individual east champions have been developed by Coach Houck, and three national champions.

And now a word of praise for Brown Prep School, located in the Philadelphia area. The Brownies have extended their basketball win streak to 27 games. All told, the schoolboys have won 54 of the last 57 games, and annexed two titles in as many years. That's really playing basketball.

And while we're passing out bouquets, one should go to Lester K. Lash, of Laureldale, Berks County. At the age of ten he had his right arm amputated. He had to learn to do things all over again. But recently he popped up in the news as a crack marksman, scoring 48 out of a possible 50. For a left-handed, one-armed man that's the acme of accomplishment. TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

One of the reasons why boxing too often suffers is bad handling by the state commissioners. . . too many politicians are appointed, and they use the sport as a vote lure. . . seldom is a newspaper man, or one who knows something about the business, named to run the game.

Michigan does boxing and the state itself a favor in the appointment of Frank MacDonald, Detroit newspaper man, as chairman of the boxing commission. . . MacDonald is a well known and admired by the element in the game, and feared and respected by the sinister Sams.

MacDonald's first act as chairman the other day was characteristic. He slapped a suspension on a Detroit lightweight, Johnny Vorce, who failed to go through with a contract that called for a fight in Saginaw with Jimmy Adamek.

Mac Moves In

One of the commissioners voiced the opinion that the reason Vorce backed out was fear of Adamek. "Off goes his head," said Mac. "A few kicks in the pants will help these guys to learn this commission is going to run the show."

Man will be as fearless a chairman as he has been as a writer. It's a great break for the "whole state of Michigan." For 20 years he has written all kinds of sports with a militant and humorous touch. Frank went to Detroit via Superior, Wis., Duluth, Flint and Port Huron. He worked for a smart racing law firm and led the fight for the law legalizing boxing in Michigan. His crusades against gamblers and chiselers have made it hard for them to get along.

Joe Louis Has Real Worries

Hopes That Nothing Happens To Bob Pastor Before Friday Night, Good Drawing Card

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Jan. 25.—To look at his good-pan expression you'd never dream that Joe Louis had a care on earth.

But the fact is, and admits it, Joe's worried as a gal who has been waiting at the altar for an hour and no bridegroom in sight.

He's as apprehensive as a man who sees his rich oil well running dry and doesn't know where to find another one. And no mother is more solicitous about her first born child than Joe is for the health and well-being of his brother heavyweight.

You see—but let Joe tell it:

Worries Plenty

"I sure do worry plenty about all those boys," said Joe today, as he wound up heavy training for his fight with Bob Pastor Friday night.

"I worry specially about that Mr. Pastor. I hope nothing happens to Mr. Pastor before Friday cause I tell me him and me is going to draw $100,000."

"If any accident happens to Mr. Pastor or any other of them boys, I worry to be the accident."

That Mr. Fred Burman worries me some, too. I understand Mr. Burman and me can do $50,000 in Detroit and I wouldn't want nothing to happen to Mr. Burman until I meets up with him. After that, he can worry for himself."

Half Million Dollars

At this point, Manager Julian Black cut in to say that Joe had more than $500,000 worth of prospective engagements for the next four months. Besides the aforesaid Pastor and Burman affairs, Joe has a possible $100,000 date waiting for him in California with Maxie Rosenbloom or some other likely candidate for the Louis anesthetic and embalming society. Also a probable $50,000 with Nate Brown in Kansas City, a sure $50,000 with Harry Thomas in Minneapolis and a likely $75,000 in Chicago, $50,000 in Salt Lake and $25,000 in Buffalo with victims yet to be selected.

Of course, there is a $2,000,000 gate in the offing if he can get Max Schmeling again or $600,000 if he could land Jim Braddock. And Mike Jacobs has assured Joe he and Tony Galento will draw at least $200,000 outdoors here this summer.

The annual value of the Cuban tobacco crop has been estimated at 40 to 50 million dollars.

Baccalaureate Takes Place On Sunday Night

Class Of 81 Enjoys Fine
Sermon At Lincoln Auditorium Last Night

REV. O. B. EMERSON
DELIVERS SERMON

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 25.—Despite the inclement weather there was a fine turnout for the baccalaureate services in the Lincoln auditorium Sunday night for 81 students in the January class of 1937 of the Ellwood City High school. With traditional style the class took its place in a reserved section of the auditorium in a solemn procession. They were attired in their gray raps and gowns. The high school band under the direction of Prof. Paul Winter played a special march number during the procession. Rev. E. G. Aubrey, pastor of the First Christian church, presided during the evening's program.

The message of the evening was brought by the Rev. O. B. Emerson of the local M. E. church. Good living is not difficult in these days, he said. There was a time when this was not so. Of late there has been a tendency to let everything go to the devil, much less our younger generation. The responsibility for this cannot be laid at their feet. It is the elders who set the example. The kind of a world these young people have to face is not of their making but the one they inherit. They will have difficulty problems and tasks to cope with. The speaker admonished them to take this in hand with vigor and determination. "Make your selection now and work towards a goal," he advised.

Rev. Emerson advocated that more attention be paid to the teachings of the Bible. You have been raised with good instruction not only in education but in religion as well. Take advantage of the lessons taught by the Bible and face life with faith, purity, and thus to a noble end. Your achievements yet lie ahead of you. With the help of God strive toward a common good and improve your environment. Make your life contribute a great deal to humanity. Be a good neighbor. Rise to the will of God as religion is essential to a good life. Without faith you cannot help your fellow man.

The young people with vision have great possibilities, Rev. Emerson declared. It takes study and hard work to succeed—hard work with mind and body. He illustrated his point by telling of the many inventions to aid mankind in the world made possible through ceaseless toil. He urged the young people to do something that can provide jobs. A future lies ahead for the person with ability. "Bear your tasks with smiles and have charity as one of your chief virtues," the speaker stated. Stand on your own feet. For remember the more that you leave doing for you the weaker you will become in this world. The expression in the Bible, "do unto others as you would have others do unto you," if applied always will bring you far in life. In closing Rev. Emerson advised—"Let the Bible be your guide. Follow Jesus Christ to stand near the gates of Heaven, the Truth, the Builder, and the Maker is God."

The complete program as carried out is as follows:
Presiding—Rev. E. G. Aubrey.
Music, "On, O Thou Soul" from March Slav — Tschaiakowski;
"Marche Noble" — Charles Bach—Orchestra.
Invocation—Rev. A. M. Stevenson.
Hymn, "Tomorrow" — Samuel Wesley.
Scripture Reading — Rev. B. G. Osterhouse.
Prayer—Rev. T. G. Berger.
Music, "Moonlight In The Forest," Felix Mendelssohn — Girls' Glee club.
Sermon—Rev. O. B. Emerson.
Hymn, "I Need Thee Every Hour" — Robert Lowry.
Benediction—Rev. F. H. Daubenspeck.

Office Trounces Mathews Quintet

Take 53-21 Victory In Industrial League Game
On Saturday Night

FINISHING BEATS
FRISCO PASSERS

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 25.—The Office cagers went into a deadlock with the Mechanicals for the lead in the City Industrial League at the Shelby auditorium on Saturday night with a convincing 53-21 victory over the Mathews who have dropped four straight.

The Office had things much their own way and the result was never in doubt. They held a 12-1 lead in the first quarter, 26-9 at the half, 35-19 in the third quarter and 53-21 final. Tomel, Patterson, Shirey, McFadden, Fenechi, and Wetzel played a prominent part in the rout. The former came away with high scoring honors with seven field goals. Nelson, Cole, and Mohr were good for the losers.

Frisko provided a good test for the finishing, title defenders, in the second game of the evening. It was close and hard fought, and was decided in the final quarter. Finishing trailed by a score of 35-24. Finishing trailed 6-4 in the opening stanza but put on the pressure to take an 18-8 lead at half-time. Frisko came to life again in the ensuing period to score 10 points to Finishing's four, making the score 22-18 for the latter at the end of the quarter. The League champions came to life again in the final chapter to score 13 points to Frisko's six, making the final score 35-24. Lasso, Barnes, Latiano, and Rossman are the big guns for the victors with Boone and DeTullio being outstanding for the losers.

The overflow crowd enjoyed a fine entertainment between the games and a dance after. The league lead will definitely be decided on Wednesday night when the Mechanicals and Office clash in the second game. The Finishing will meet a good Cold Draw team in the first.

You don't have to live in a valley to get water in your cellar . . . A good many homes on the North Hill had water yesterday . . . it came as high as two feet and at that point your fire usually goes out . . . well it was a warm day.

We have here at the News office a pile of answers to ads you people have inserted . . . a good many box numbers have not been called . . . anyhow the letters are here and you're welcome to them . . . if you had a number between 407 and 519 . . . Along with nearly 6,000 other communities in the nation, a President's Ball will be held in the Cathedral. Attorney Clarence A. Patterson is the general chairman of the event with Carl W. Haufier in charge of ticket sales.

The president's birthday actually occurs on January 30 but the committee here felt it would be better to have the ball on Friday night and thus not have the affair going into Sunday morning as it would were it held on Saturday night.

Ticket agencies have been established, scores of citizens are selling tickets and it is hoped the response here will be as warm this year as it has been in the past.

This will be the fourth such ball. The first one was held in 1934 and a tremendous sum of money was realized for the Warm Springs Foundation where infantile paralysis is treated. Since then the receipts of the balls have been divided. Seventy per cent of the receipts stay in the community helping the ball and are divided equally between the hospitals. The other thirty per cent goes to the national committee of which Henry L. Doherty is the chairman. This money helps to defray the expenses of the committee each year and also goes to provide help for the Warm Springs Foundation in Georgia.

The President's Ball is one function in which all the citizens can join regardless of political affiliation. There can be no politics in a movement designed to add little children to walk again and locally as in the other communities men and women of all political faiths are joining heartily in making the affair a success.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Flood Waters Attract Many To Seventh Ward

Cherry Street And Mt. Jackson
Road Closed As High
Waters Spread Through The Lowlands

Hundreds of people flocked to the seventh ward Sunday evening to view the havoc wrought by the high waters, as the Shenango and Mahoning rivers flooded cellars, made highways impassable and spread destruction in its path.

Miniature waterfalls cascaded down from the hills into the seventh ward all day Sunday, causing a number of streets of the ward to be flooded and filled with debris, even though a great distance from the high rivers.

Jesse Boak, rural mail carrier on R. D. 8 Mahoningtown, reported today that mails were delayed on his route due to the fact that he was forced to deliver the mails by way of Edinburg, because of the flooded highway at the foot of the Mt. Jackson road.

Accident Victim Shows Improvement

Frank Zumpello of South Cedar street, who is confined to the Jameson Memorial hospital with serious injuries received in an accident, is slightly improved. Frank was injured while at work last week.

Flood Waters At Ridgway, Pa., Are Receding Today

(International News Service)
RIDGWAY, Pa., Jan. 25—After rising to within three feet of the all-record March high, flood waters here were receding today, stemmed by a cold spell.
A quick rise last night in the Clarion river and Elk creek partly flooded basements in the business and residential sections and nearby lowlands.

Water covering the roadway leading to the Holmes Silk mill forced suspension of operations there, throwing 90 out of work. The mill itself was reported free of water.

TWO SMALL FIRES

HERE OVER WEEK-END
Firemen answered two alarms here over the week end for blazes which were of small consequences.
At 3:35 Saturday afternoon, Seventh ward firemen were called to the block of Antonio Panella, of 103 1/2 South Liberty street, where grease caught fire on the kitchen stove, and scorched a cupboard. The damage amounted to around $5. It was estimated.

At 1:15 Sunday afternoon, Central and Sixth Ward firemen were called to the home of John Kmetek, of 17 Atlantic avenue, where soot in a grate which had been walled up, caught fire. Firemen reported no damage.
